

Front Range Educational Media Corporation, KBDI, Channel 12 is a PBS affiliate in Denver. Our signal coverage area extends well over mountainous areas but does not reach many of the shielded mountain communities. We believe that we could serve these mountain communities with PBS programming via translators.

An easier and more expedited process for providing translator service to mountainous and rural areas would allow us to expand our PBS programming to communities that are currently not served. We support the objective of the National Translator Association's proposal (RM-10666, DA-03-622) and the specifics of the proposal appear reasonable and workable.